GIBBONS HOME EROM ROME.

HINTING GUARDEDLY THAT WE MAY HAVE A NEW CARDINAL.

Describes Plus X. as a Man of God and the People, Chosen by an Impulse as Mighty as It Was Divinely Inspired-Tells of the Pope's Friendilness to America.

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons, safely home from his journey to Rome, received the most notable and enthusiastic greeting of the 1,600 passengers who arrived yesterday morning on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. The Cardinal was in excellent health and spirits. The liner encountered rough seas and a hard northeasterly gale after leaving Cherbourg, and for the next two days only half of the ship's company were well enough to appear at table. Cardinal was not among these, but he had completely recovered by Saturday and tock his seat at the left of Cap. Cuppers.

To a SUN reporter who was a fellow passenger Cardinal Gibbons, in speaking of the Conclave, said that the associates of Pius X. in the Sacred College were moved to choose him by an impulse "as mighty as it was divinely inspired." The whole proceedings were conducted with a dignity emotions. The impress of the event on $5,000. his memory, the Cardinal said, was the most solemn of his life.

Cardinal Gibbons spoke also of the Pontiff's health, but expressed no alarm for him. Pius X. had indeed, as reported, miffered from several fainting spells, he said, and there was no doubt that the close confinement and incessant obligations of his restricted life in the Vatican were working against him for the time; but his recuperation in cooler weather and as soon as he became more accustomed to his new responsibilities might surely be anticipated. Many customs of life at the Vatican have been simplified since the rew Pope's succession, but no radical changes have been permanently instituted.

The feeling in Europe toward the Pope the American Cardinal gauged as being most heartily sympathetic.

"As for America," said Cardinal Gibbons, we should rejoice with exceeding joy that this benevolent, zealous and deeply spiritual man has been elevated to the

A large delegation of priests from the Baltimore province, headed by Fathers William A. Fletcher, John D. Boland, William T. Russell and O. D. Corrigan, Joseph Keiley, a lifelong friend of the Cardinal, and Richard B. Tippett, supreme president the Catholic Benevolent Legion, went own the bay yesterday morning to meet the steamer. At the pier in Hoboken there was an even larger delegation.

After the Kaiser had docked an informal reception was held by the Cardinal in his suite on the saloon deck, and Mr. Tippett formally extended greeting to his Eminence He reviewed the career of the Cardinal nd spoke of the deep love and pride Americans have in him. In replying the Cardinal avoided all mertion of church politics and spoke only of the happiness of his return, of his voyage and improved health. Mr. Tippett remarked that all the reporters

"There is absolutely no truth in that. I do not believe that a new Patriarchal see is even being considered."

Pope Pius X. the Cardinal described to the reporters as "a man of handsome personality, winning manner, beautifully formed, in the fulness of life—about the same are as Lee when he was elected. He formed, in the fulness of life—about the same age as Leo when he was elected. He is democratic," said the Cardinal, "and openness and simplicity are strongly marked in him. Time will develop in him all characteristics which we don't appre-ciate at present. He may be characterized as a man of God and a man of the people.

He has an affection for the American people. This was evinced when at my request he granted his first audience to a pilgrimage from the United States, giving first and special blessing to them and

This is shown in a long letter to the American hierarchy which he has given to Mgr. O'Connell, who is still in Rome. This letter outlines the plan for the future welfare and prosperity of the university. Pius X is fairly well posted on our affairs here. After leaving Rome Cardinal Gibbons went to Lake Geneva, where he was en-ertained by Mr. and Mrs. Francis de Sales Jenkins of Baltimore, who have a villa there. There he met Chatrand and Pade-Later he travelled in France and ormandy.

On landing yesterday he went first to St. Michael's, the Passionist monastery in West Hoboken. After dining there he was escorted to the home of Mrs. John D. Keiley in Brooklyn, where he will stay until Thursday. Archbishop Farley called there to pay his respects to the Cardinal, who in turn will visit the Archbishop and dine with him to-day. A number of prominent Catho-lics will meet the Cardinal this evening, but no formal celebration of his return will be held until his arrival in Baltimore, when the first American Cardinal to cast a vote for a successor of St. Peter will be formally greeted by Church and State officials.

to-morrow morning in a private car.

Cardinal Gibbons is just ten months older than Pius X., who was born in June, 1885. At the shipboard service on the Kaiser last Sunday morning the Cardinal gave an earnest, practical talk on the beau ties of Chri, tain character which was lis tened to with the keenest interest by nearly all of the 420 cabin passengers of many faiths. He was much sought by his fel-low voyagers and was keen to get the best entertainment out of his many acquaint-ances. A story that made him laugh harder than any other was The Sun's narder than any other was THE SUN's account of the Gloversville priest who declined to commit himself concerning the qualifications of Pius X. HAD BUT ONE SCREW IN A GALE. 25 JEWS KILLED AT GOMEL Steamship Palatia Chases Her Tall Like a Kitten.

The Hamburg-American liner Palatia, in yesterday from Hamburg and Boulogne, broke her starboard tailshaft when about 500 miles west of the English Channel, on Sept. 9. The sea was smooth, and nearly all the cabin passengers were on deck. The vibration incidental to the accident was so severe that unsecured chairs were overturned and glasses knocked off tables.

The ship was stopped within a few minutes, and a steel hawser was looped under the starboard propeller.

On Monday the liner found herself pursued by a fierce easterly gale. Her rudder was ineffective, with only her port propeller in commission, and she began chasing herself like an unsophisticated kitten running after its tail. She did this several hours before the gale moderated and gave her a chance to steer somewhere.

FOR JUDICIARY CONVENTION.

Delegates Elected in Brooklyn Last Night

Favor Elliott, Van Wart and Thomas. Republican conventions were held last night in Brooklyn for the election of delegates to the judicial convention, next Wednesday, for the nomination of a candidate for the Supreme Court in place of Justice W. W. Goodrich. Kings county will be represented in the convention by 130 delegates, while the other nine counties in the judicial district will have only 103 delegates.

Delegates favoring the nomination of George F. Elliott and Municipal Magistrate

George F. Elliott and Municipal Magistrate Girard B. Van Wart as well as of Judge Thomas were chosen last night, and it is probable that the outside counties also will have two or more candidates. Mr. Elliott is a veteran Republican warrior in Elliott is a veteran Republican warrior in Kings county and for years has been ambitious to wind up his career on the Supreme Court bench. Whether he carries off the prize or not this year, he is sure to cut a creditable figure in the convention.

Col. Michael J. Dady, who heads the First Assembly district delegation, declared on Monday that his delegation would be for Mr. Elliott.

When asked about the reports concerning the creation of another Cardinal for America, his Eminence made this guarded statement:

"While I have no positive knowledge of the Holy Father's intention in this regard, I would not be at all surprised if before long a number of new Cardinals were created, and among them America will in all probability have a share."

and it looked at that time as if it were of incendiary origin. All the apparatus in town responded to the alarm. Efforts were made to save the costly rugs and furnishings in the house, but this had to be abandoned and the tanestries and draperies and curios, which it had taken a lifetime to collect in the Oriental markets, became a prey to the flames. Mr. Bogigian and two servants were in the house when the fire broke out and barely escaned with fire broke out and barely escaped with their lives.

KILLED BY A TROLLEY CAR. Unidentified Man Run Down on the Bowery

and Dragged 50 Feet. A man whose body has not yet been identified was run over and killed on the Bowery near Second street last night by a northbound Madison avenue car in charge of Conductor Alexander Diestel and Motorman John Coyle.

Some persons who saw the accident said that the man was staggering just before the car hit him, as if suffering from vertigo. man was crossing from the east sid The man was crossing from the east side of the Bowery. He saw the car and the motorman saw him. Both stopped, but car and the man started ahead again at the same time. The man was tripped by the fender, rolled under it and was dragged fifty feet. The line was blocked for twenty minutes.

The dead man was about 45 years old and weighed 165 pounds. He was partially bald. The body was taken to the Fifth street police station.

Jews Were Defending Themselves From a Christian Mob When Russian Troops and Police Attacked Them With Great Brutality-Quiet Restored.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, Sept. 22 .- In regard to the rioting between the Jews and Christians at Gomel, Russia, the Jewish Relief Committee states that the houses of 345 Jewish workmen were plundered and destroyed.

Twenty-five Jews were killed, 100 were sent to the hospitals suffering from serious injuries and 200 others were taken care of who were only slightly hurt. The killing and wounding of the Jews are attributed to the brutality of the troops and police, who attacked the Jews while the latter were defending themselves from a Christian mob. The trouble arose on Sept. 11, when the Christian dealers forcibly despoiled the Jewish pedlers who refused to lower the price of herrings. LONDON, Sept. 22 .- The Times cites the Gomel affair as an instance of how little faith can be placed in official versions of such occurrences. It gives from a private letter written from Gomel during the progress of the riots an account of their origin, which is similar to that issued by the Jewish relief committee at Berlin.

This account says that after the outbreak on Friday a number of anti-Semitic agitators went about, inflaming the passions of the mujiks and exhorting them not to leave their fellow Christians unavenged. This continued on Saturday, the 12th, and Sunday, the 13th.

The Jewish leaders had in the meantime been urging their followers on no account to give any cause for fresh disturbances. All the drinking shops were kept closed and most of the Jews remained indoors, while the streets were patrolled. On Monday, the 14th, however, the workmen in the railway workshops organized a meeting at noon in one of the principal streets. About one hundred men assembled and began to break the windows and enter and plunder the houses of the Jews. A number of Jews began to gather in self defence, but the soldiers prevented them from entering the streets where the plundering was going on, forcing them ack to their houses and beating and arresting those who did not obey.

Other soldiers, meanwhile, stood by while the mob was going on with its work of plunder and committing all kinds of

"One could hear the shrieks of children in the streets, which the patrols had blocked against help from the Jews outside," says the writer, "and when some Jews tried to force their way down a side street the soldiers fired on them, killing six. The police did not show themselves anywhere, and the troops were on duty alone to protect the rioters."

When the above letter was despatched the rioting was still going on. Four streets. it was believed, had then been wrecked, but nothing definite was known as to the loss of life. As Gomel had 26,000 Jews, out of a total population of 40,000, there may be foundation for the reports that it has been a second Kishineff.

Gomel, or Homel, is a railroad junction, 500 miles south of St. Petersburg, in the heart of Russia. It is the district town in the Government of Mohilev. It has eight orthodox churches and a synagogue. It is the centre of a lively trade in wood

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

BERLIN, Sept. 22 .- The mission of Mr. Skinner, the American Consul General at Marseilles, to King Menelik of Abyssinia, on the subject of commercial affairs, appears to have irritated a section of German opinion. Some of the newspapers describe the mission as an exhibition of American jingoism which is connected with the coming Presidential election. The Post, while saying that Germany is not affected by the new departure of the United States, suggests that the Americans attend to some of their own affairs, lynchings, for instance.

Turkey May Aid Refugees and Help Rebuilt Burned Villages. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, Sept. 23 .- To-day's reports from the Balkans are of a probable settlement of the trouble. Despatches from Sofia say the feeling there is more hopeful. Turkey having intimated a willingness to appoint a mixed commission of Turks and Bulgarians to elaborate regulations for securing to the Macedonians a certain measure of autonomy in domestic concerns.

The Porte, it is also said, is willing to rehabilitate the refugees and aid in rebuilding the burned villages. There is no official confirmation of these reports, either from Sofia or Constantinople, but there is a strong hope that the Sultan will issue an irade within forty-eight hours in the sense indicated.

JEROME GIVES OUT LETTERS SIGNED THOMAS A. FULTON.

Cutting Gently Suggested as a Winner -He's C. U. Chairman-Fulton Is C. U. Secretary and Was the "Leader" Jerome Quoted Last Week-Hint From Fulton of Bottenness in District Attorney's Office, to Be Dug Up if Jerome Doesn't Shut Up, Brings Out All the Letters-Fulton and Cutting Stient.

LAKEVILLE, Conn., Sept. 23 .- District Attorney Jerome, feeling outraged by a letter he received to-day from Thomas A. Fulton, secretary of the Citizens' Union. made public a series of letters received by him from Mr. Fulton since the beginning of the present public movement to neminate Seth Low for Mayor. The letters show in part the sources of Mr. Jerome's information that there was disaffection in the fusion ranks.

There are three of the letters. The first one was written by Mr. Fulton immediately after the publication of an unauthorized but approximately accurate statement of Mr. Jerome's views of the situation and of the impolicy of renominating Mayor Low. The second was written in answer to a note of introduction from Mr. Jerome, presenting a friend who volunteered, while on a visit to New York from Lakeville, to find out for Mr. Jerome what Mr. Fulton was talking about in the first letter. The third letter, written yesterday, con-tained a covert threat, of which Mr. Jerome was apprised ten days ago, that his own administration of the District Attorney s office would be attacked if he did not cease interfering with the prescribed fusion programme. Mr. Fulton's letters begin with encouraging Mr. Jerome in his attacks on Low and furnish him with facts on which to base more such attacks. They advise Mr. Jerome that Mr. Low "will quit with a little more pounding." These letters are now incorporated in an open letter to R. Fulton Cutting, in which Mr. Jerome, after making clear his reasons for publishing the letters and reiterating his reasons for opposing Mr. Low's nomination, says he supposes this episode will mark the parting of the ways between himself and Mr. Cutting. The letters follow:

JEROME TO CUTTING.

LAREVILLE, CONN., SEPT. 22.

MY DEAR MR. CUTTING: I have received from your political valet three letters which I have embodied in this open letter to you, which I shall hand to the press. It never would have occurred to me to have made public the first two had it not been for the one received to-day. While it is by no means pleasant to have your veracity called publicly into question, I should have preferred to have remained silent under such an imputation rather than violate a preferred to have remained silent under such an imputation rather than violate a confidence. The most casual perusal of the letter received to-day, taken in connec-tion with the two previous letters, shows how absolutely the necessity of treating the first two as confidential has been put aside.

the first two as confidential has been put aside.

A letter so obviously endeavoring to play both ends against the middle, and so plainly written to be shown to persons other than the person to whom it is addressed, is not entitled to that consideration which a gentleman is accustomed to show even such a person as your attaché. to show even such a person as your attaché The first letter is dated Sept. 13, and wa received by me in due course, and reads

FULTON HEART-BROKEN BY LOW PROGRAMME

Sept. 13, 1903.

Dear Mr. Jerome: If you should be in New York this week call me on the 'phone. I want to see you. I do not know how much you know, but I know enough as Secretary of the Cits Union and of the conference to make me very uncomfortable and discouraged. The story in to-day's press about your attitude makes me feel you are only partly informed about the situation, hence this note. The account in to-day's Times of present conditions isn't far wrong, and as we have a New York county and Manhattas borough convention to-morrow (Monday) evening, and a meeting of our executive committee at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and of the full city committee, 8 o'clock in the same evening, things may come to a focus before our city convention.

The executive committee has got to report its doings in the conference to the full city committee, for which it is acting, and how the full committee will take it no one can tell.

If the members do not explode, some of 330 WEST NINETY-PIFTH STREET, Cynthiana, Ky., Sept. 22.—The case of Curtis Jett for the murder of Town Marshal Cockiell of Jackson, which had been on trial here for two weeks, was given to the jury this afternoon, and after being out two hours and twenty-five minutes, the jurymen returned a verdict of guilty, fixing punishment at death.

Jett was tried recently for the murder of James B. Marcum, and got a sentence of life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

Jett was defiant when the verdict was read, this afternoon, and said later that he had not had a fair trial. The case will be received by me after my first letter to Mr. Nadal, and is as follows:

34 Union Square, Sept. 15, 1963.

My Dear Jerome: Your hearty note encourages me to write you freely. Very unfortunately, I could not meet Mr. Denison. There is much inside friction in the Citizens Union about the nominations. Had the executive committee called our district chairmen together, and had a candid talk with them, they would not so persistently and bitthely urge the nomination of Mr. Low and one person in particular (not Mr. Cutting) is being sharply criticised for the present situation. Fortunately, a special meeting of the full city committee, 150 members (see enclosed), had been called for to-morrow evening, for the executive committee, to report its action in the conference. There is likely to be a lively meeting and something is sure to leak into the newspapers. I know that much of the so-called unanimous support of certain delegations in the conference was insincere. I do not mean the Cits Union. Some of the most determined opponents of Low's nomination are our best district chairmen, generally, and machine Republicans and Tammany districts, but men who accomplished splendid results in 1901, men who know their districts and who constantly return with the reports that the people will not take Low. The so-called logical argument makes these men tired. They say (rightly, to my mind) is it logical to nominate a man whom we cannot elect?

tired. They say Trightly, to my mind) is it logical to nominate a man whom we cannot elect?

LOW HAS NOT YET DECIDED TO TARF THE NOMINATION. A little more pounding and he will quit. The only way the Cits Union could leave him now would be by his withdrawal I cannot write details, but the great majority of men as I meet them say Low cannot be elected and report disaffection among the working folk. I am well informed that policemen and firemen are collectively against Low, but can be brought to support another candidate. Your own attitude is being keenly discussed. A well known shrewd lawyer said to me to-day: "The people want Jeromejust where they put him for four years," and quoted just what yesterday's Herald said that you could not now accept the nomination without personal discredit. Remember the Herald is fighting daily to prevent Low's nomination. You can have a commanding voice in the settlement provided you make it CLEAR that you intend to stay where you are, and your true friends will urge you so to do. You can well afford to wait.

I have tried to think the Republicans are sincere, but information received during the last three days makes me more than doubt them; further I am sure the Union does and can CONTROL the situation. The Republicans cannot but say amen to what we do They may bluft, but dare not take the risk of a three cornered fight.

Many men in our inner circles adhere to Low because of the failure to pick out and unite upon a Bemocrat. Cutting leathe only one in sight at present who cas unite them all, but he should be the last received.
